Making exact change allows you to discard multiple cards that add up to the value of the last card played. If the last card played shows a quarter, you can make exact change by playing two dimes and a nickel ...allowing you to discard three cards in one play!

Getting coal in your stocking is now the best gift of the holidays!

Lumps, the Elf Coal Game is the perfect stocking stuffer during the holiday season.

The Lumps Legend: Children around the world have been so good the past few years; lumps of coal built up at the North Pole. Guaranteed to discombobulate the entire family with non-stop laughter!

Recognized by Toys & Family Entertainment magazine as one of the top 10 "hottest-selling items in the specialty toy industry!" and winner of Creative Child Magazine's Seal of Excellence Award.

In Discombobulation, the goal is to play all of your cards first. But watch out for 18 crazy challenge cards designed to DISCOMBOBULATE you and make you draw more cards. For example, if someone plays the Maestro discombobulation card, they pick a song, like The National Anthem, and sing the first line. "OH SAY CAN YOU SEE!" The next player must sing the next line and the song continues until someone makes a mistake or doesn't know the next line. This person has to draw. Other challenges will have you mimic others, make lists, remember nicknames, hold invisible objects, keep a rhyme going, impersonate famous people, and much more.

Sample Discombobulation Challenges:

Alias: the player of the card gives each player a name that fits within a theme, like "superheroes". Play continues and all players must remember to call each other by the new names. The 1st player to slip must draw more cards.

Monkey See, Monkey Do: the player of the card quickly makes a motion and holds it, like pinching his/her ear. The last person to mimic the motion draws more cards.

Mr. List: the player of the card identifies a category, like "American cars." Then, he/she lists one item that fits into that category. The next player must then list a different item. Listing continues until someone messes up. This player must draw more cards.

Portrayal

Winner of the 2009 Teacher's Choice Award!

In Portrayal, it's what you draw, not how well you draw it.

Portrayal is a unique twist on drawing games that encourages quick doodles and stick figures. You can be terrible at drawing and still do well in the game! Each round, one player (the Portrayer) describes a unique and utterly bizarre image (provided on a playing card) while the other players (the Artists) attempt to draw the image based on the Portrayer's description. Once time is up, Artists trade drawings and evaluate whether their drawings meet 10 hidden criteria. Points are awarded for each criteria met.

Make getting to know your family great fun!

Each player drives the family car around the board until they, along with their family, solve a "Fake Family Crisis" such as "You're 14 years old, tomorrow is School Picture Day and you have a huge pimple on your nose! ". After everyone drives, players race to center where the player who lands on Weekend Wish gets to choose his/her brand of family-oriented fun for all.
